Office of Adult Students and Evening Services

Academic Advising Syllabus

OASES Mission: The Office of Adult Students and Evening Services (OASES) assists in recruiting and retaining a diverse, adult student population. OASES works collaboratively with academic units to provide the 49er Finish program, readmission services, scholarships, a mentoring program, and an adult honor society. In addition to internal relationships, OASES works closely with external organizations to promote the mission of OASES and develop scholarships for adult students.

Advising Mission: The advising mission of the Office of Adult Students and Evening Services (OASES) is to assist adult and nontraditional students in developing and implementing individual plans for achieving their academic and career goals. OASES advisors encourage students to develop an academic plan for timely and successful completion of a major. OASES advisors assist students to identify interests and career goals, choose a program of study, and select academic resources that support student success.

Students We Serve: Adult students 24 years of age and nontraditional students: Students admitted through the Adult Student Admissions Program (ASAP), 49er Finish Program students, readmitted former students, undecided majors, students transitioning between majors, and prospective students.

Student Expectations:

Academic advising is an important factor in the progression and timely graduation of college students.

- Schedule regular appointments each semester. Advisor’s schedules fill up quickly, especially during peak registration times. Arrive on time for appointments with your advisor.
- Be proactive; seek help and advice early in the semester if you are experiencing difficulty.
- Make a list of questions you have about courses, programs of study, and your educational plans.
- Review the information for undergraduate majors of interest.
- Current students should bring any documents or worksheets from previous advising sessions and review your DegreeWorks evaluation.
- Inform your advisor of any challenges you are having in your classes for referrals to helpful academic resources.
- Inform your advisor if you plan on dropping or withdrawing from a class.
- Be prepared to discuss your progress toward meeting prerequisite requirements to declare a major.
Students with Disabilities: OASES advisors and staff support students with disabilities. Please feel encouraged to communicate to your advisor if there is anything we need to know in order to support you at the university. We are prepared to connect you with resources on campus to assist you. You are not required to disclose your disability; disclosure is voluntary and will be kept confidential.

Student Veterans: OASES advisors recognize our student veteran population. If you have any current or former connection to the military, please feel encouraged to communicate special circumstances or accommodations with your advisor. We recognize that calls to active duty, questions about the GI Bill and course registration, and other unforeseen military and veteran-related situations may complicate your academic life.

- Academic and administrative policies and procedures
